FOOD ADDITIVE I

04

Recently, Bloomberg reported that snack giant Mondelez International is considering buying chocolate leader Hershey, and that the two sides have made preliminary contacts about a possible merger. If the deal goes through, the acquisition would create a food giant with combined sales of nearly $50 billion and be one of the largest acquisitions in the history of the packaged food industry. It is reported that the relevant negotiations are at an early stage, neither side has made an official confirmation and response to this news, and there are still uncertainties.
