VITAMIN

01

Zhejiang University and NHU have recently filed a new patent application entitled "A green co-production method of benzoquinone compounds and hydroquinone". The method converts phenolic compounds and benzoquinone into benzoquinone compounds and hydroquinone through the redox reaction in the protonate catalyst and solvent. It not only improves the catalytic efficiency and cogeneration yield, but also effectively reduces the production cost and environmental pollution.

AMINO ACID

02

Threonine market dynamics: Recently, domestic mainstream manufacturers have raised their offers, while others chose to suspend their offers and take a wait-and-see attitude. Currently, the offer price in the domestic trade market is around 1.5usd/kg. Inquiries in the market are active, but users are cautious in placing orders as the current price is at a high level.

API

03

Hygromycin Hydrochloride: Inventory was reduced in the third quarter due to plant shutdown for maintenance. At the same time, factory production and delivery are in a tight state, which has led to a slight upward adjustment in the market price of hygromycin hydrochloride recently. At present, the market trading price is located at 10.6-11.3usd/kg. It is expected that the price will remain firm in the short term and supply tight.

FOOD ADDITIVE

04

Recently, the white paper "Lutein and Zeaxanthin and Visual Health" was released in Beijing. The white paper discusses the latest research progress in vision health science, reveals the important value of lutein and zeaxanthin in vision health, and aims to provide scientific facts for the related industry and market education, so as to better promote the research and development, innovation and scientific application of lutein and zeaxanthin and raise the awareness of national vision health. .
